Horseback Ride and Hike to La Fortuna Waterfall and Visit Indigenous Village (+7) - Package, Regular

Horseback riding in Costa Rica is a favorite activity among travelers. On this horseback ride to the La Fortuna Waterfall and Replica Indigenous Village, you will see the spectacular Arenal Volcano and dormant Cerro Chato Volcano off in the distance with gorgeous green countryside all around. The horses are sturdy and friendly bred for tourism and are well adapted to the wet, jungle environment of Costa Rica. This is a slow and easy ride up to the waterfall, so it is perfect for first-time riders, families, or people who really want to soak in the surrounding natural beauty. Throughout your 1-hour hiking the rainforest and trails, your guide will point out wildlife, and you will get to see beautiful views of the green countryside and the breathtaking Arenal volcano. When you reach the entrance to the waterfall, you will "park" your horse and head with your guide down to the La Fortuna Waterfall. There are 300 steps to get to the famous La Fortuna Waterfall and 300 to get back up! When you reach the bottom, you'll have an opportunity to take lots of pictures and swim in the cool waters of one of the largest waterfalls in Arenal. When your ready, take your time as you head back up the staircase where your horses will be waiting to take you back to the ranch. On your way back, you'll stop by a little thatched-roof cabin to learn about the Maleku, one of Costa Rica's few remaining indigenous tribes that originates in the Arenal area. You will get to see their traditional handicrafts and learn about their culture and language. You might want to bring a little extra money to buy some authentic Costa Rican souvenirs! What a perfect way to see the beautiful nature and culture of Costa Rica! PLEASE NOTE: The walk down to the waterfall is not recommended for older people with hip, ankle or knee problems as the path is rather rocky and slippery. The Dos Pinos waterfall can be viewed from the upper platform where client dismount their horses without having to do the hike down to the waterfall on the difficult path.
